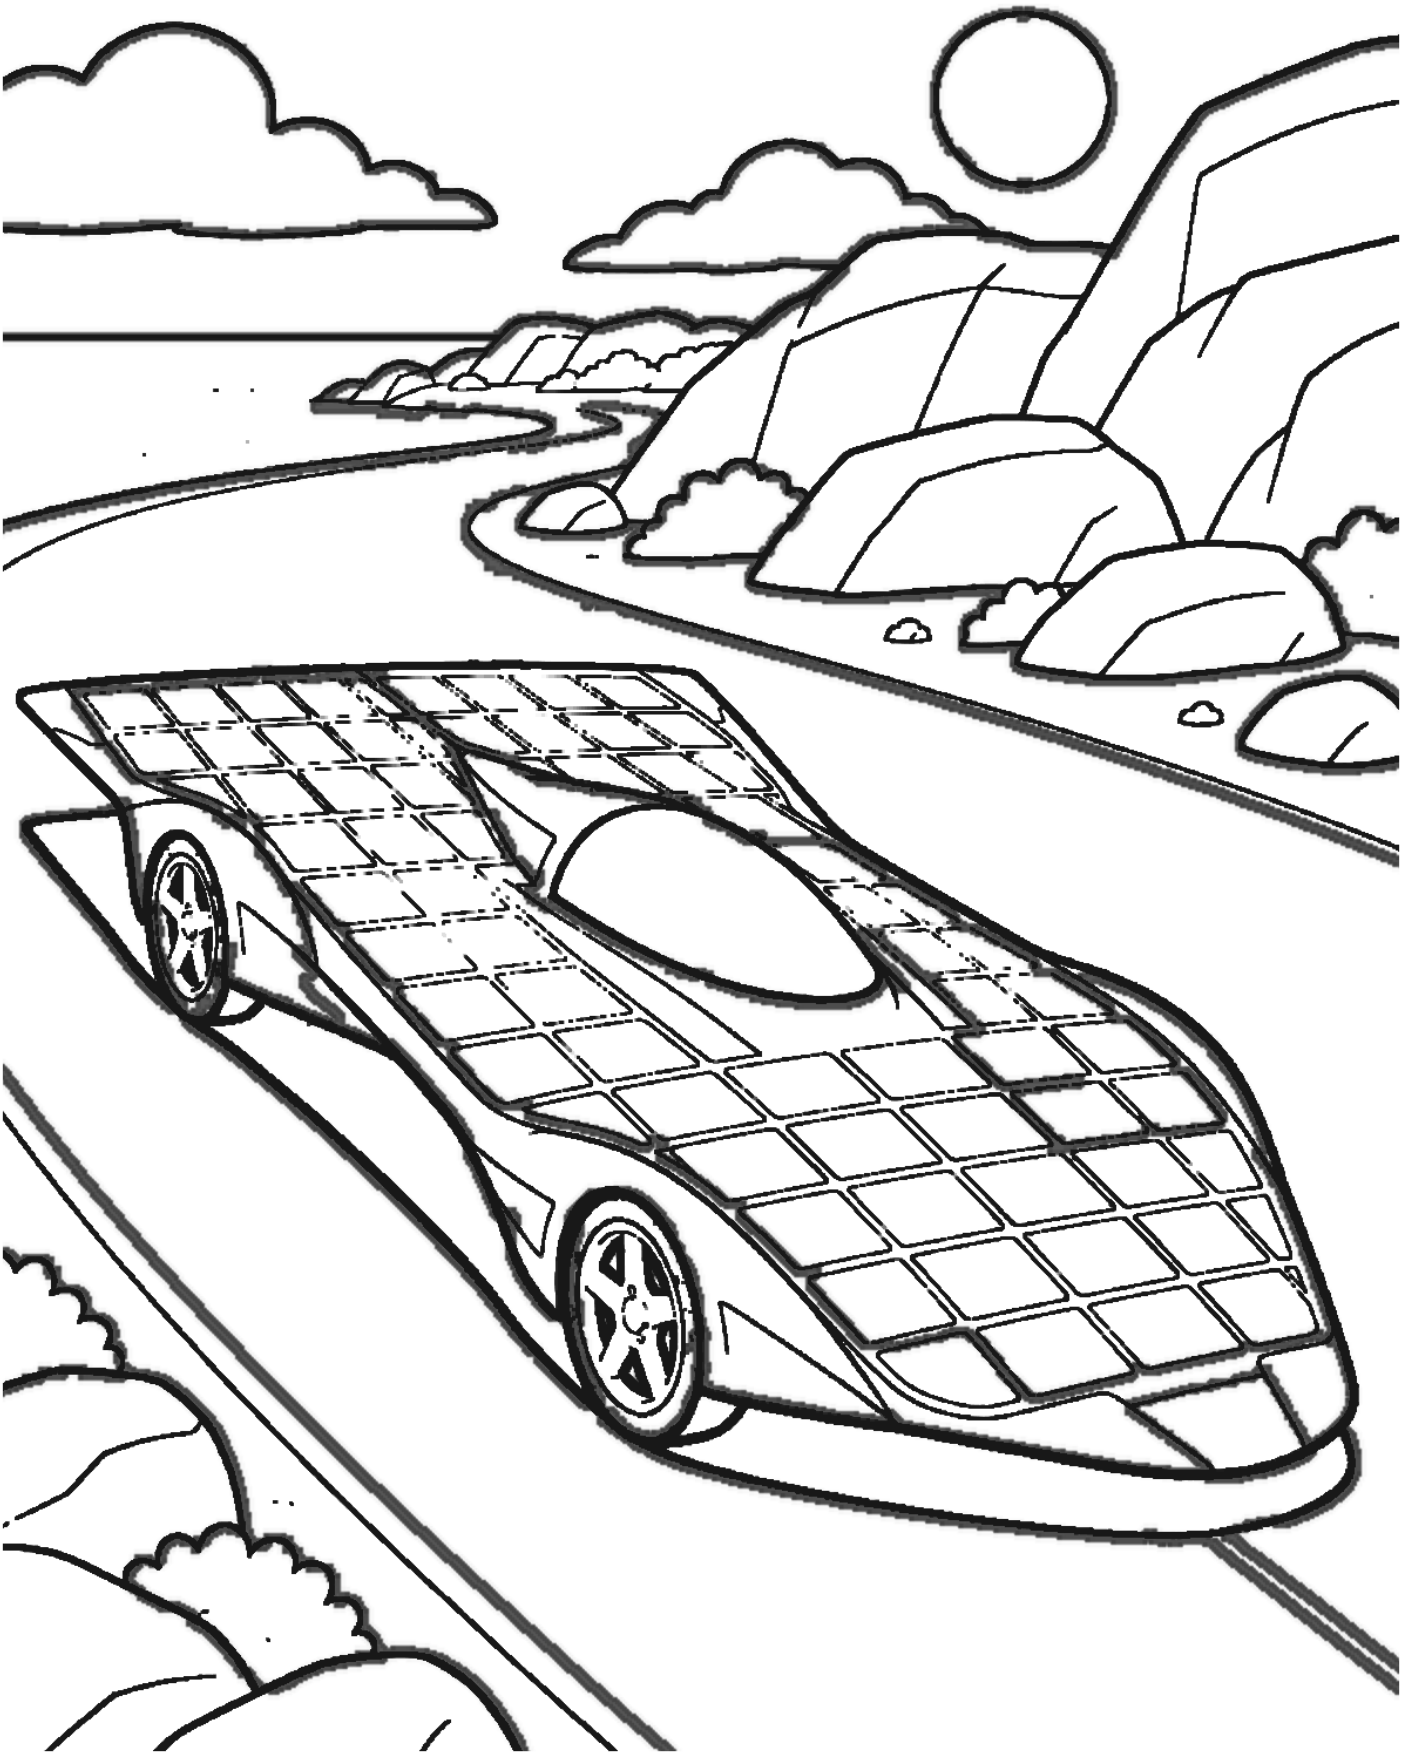
Solar Race Car

How can sunlight help power a car?



Did you know? Solar cells on the body turn some of the sunlight they receive into electricity. That electricity can power the motor or charge a battery. A wide panel area gives the car more space to collect sunlight.