Kitten and Butterfly

What makes a butterfly's wings so colorful?

Did you know? Butterfly wings are covered in tiny scales that overlap like tiles. Some scales contain color, and others change how light bounces off them. From a distance those little scales make the dots, stripes and patches the kitten can watch flutter by.