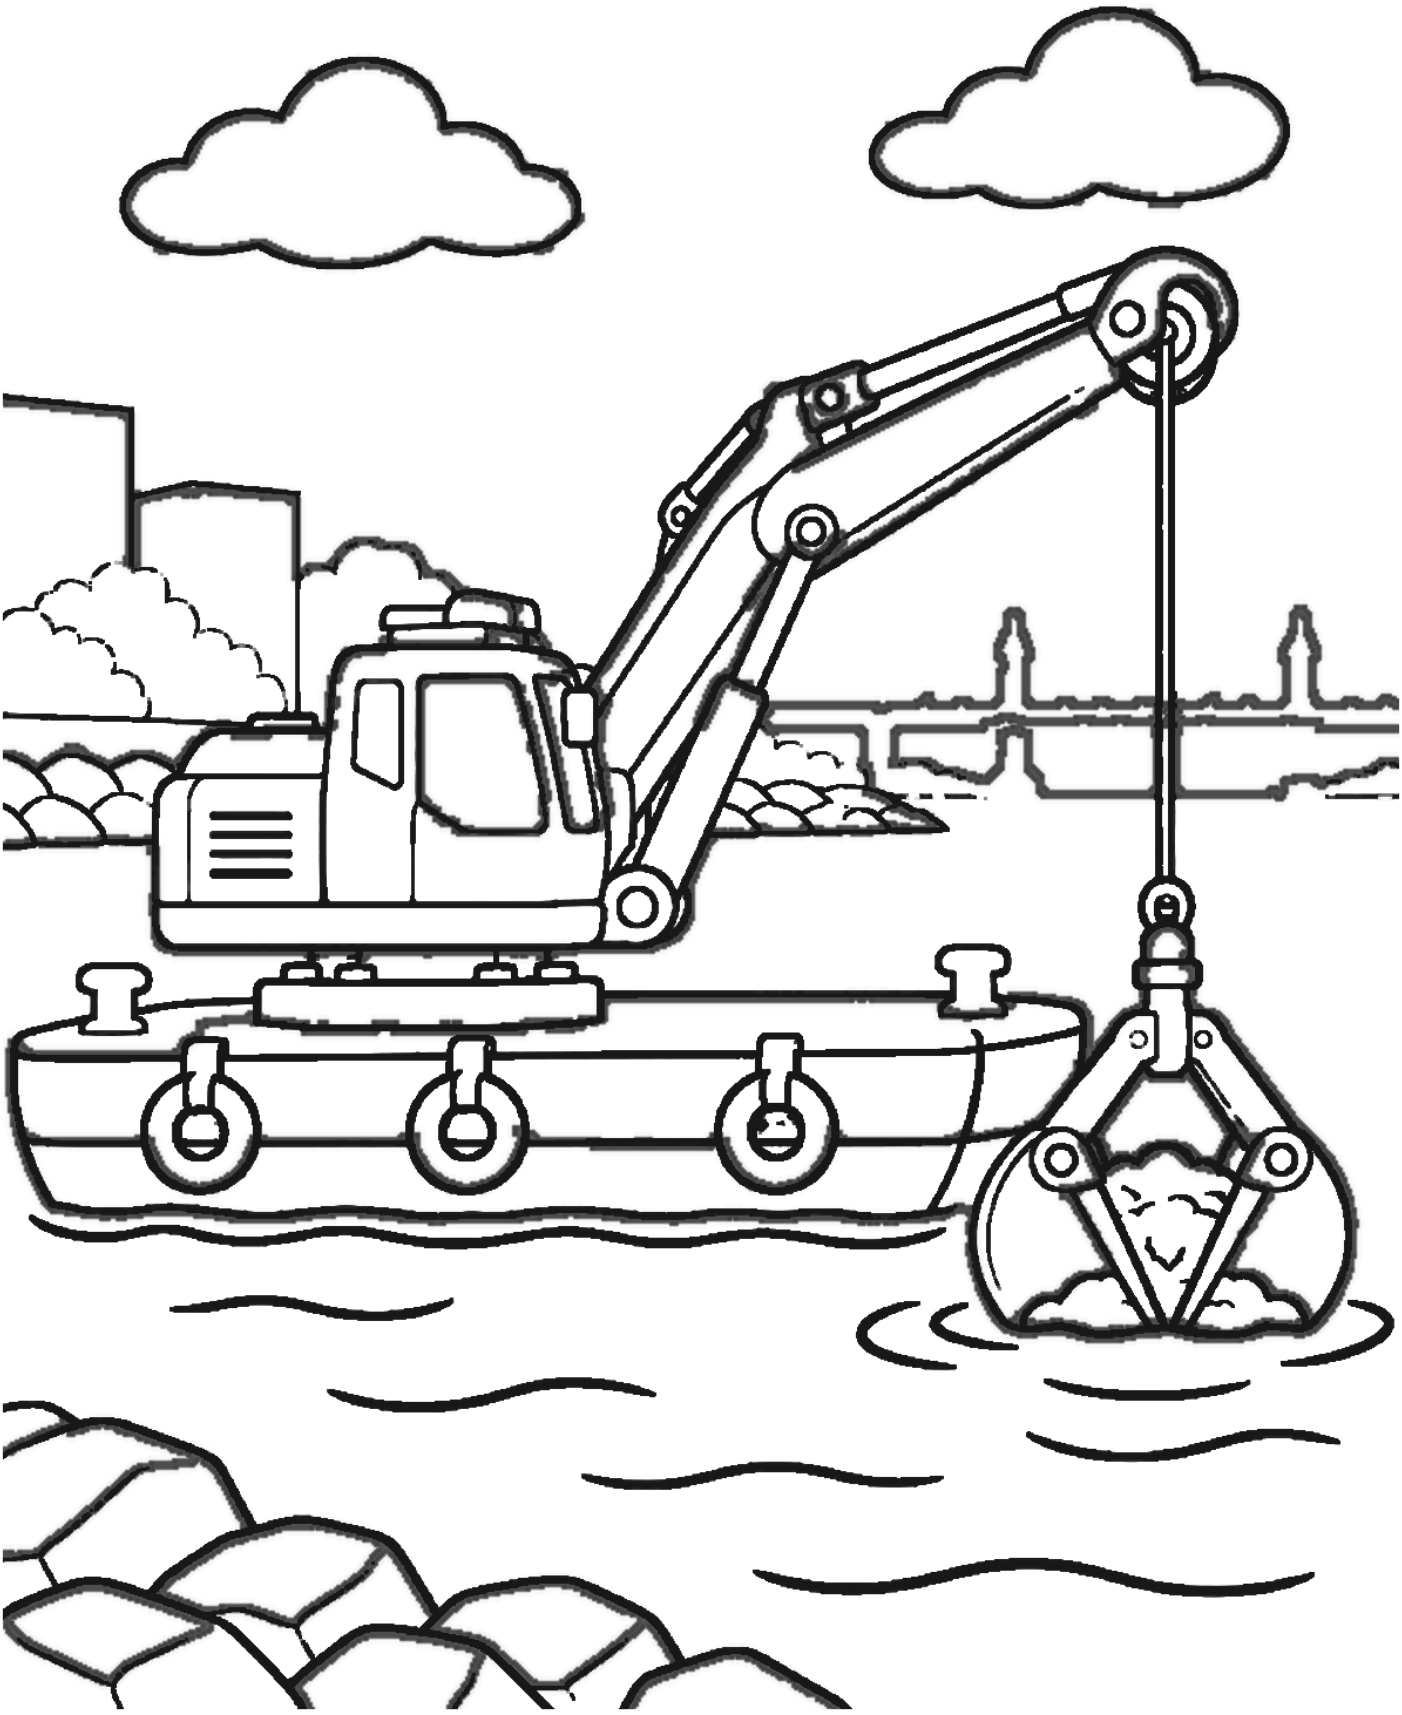
Dredging Barge

How does a bucket pick up mud under water?



Did you know? A clamshell bucket has two halves that close around material like a pair of jaws. A crane lowers it, closes it around sediment, and lifts the sediment away. From a floating barge it can reach below the waterline.