Ankylosaurus

How was Ankylosaurus built like an armoured tank?

Did you know? Bony plates in the skin formed armour across its body, and a heavy bony club capped its tail. Studies of related dinosaurs suggest big clubs could deliver hard blows. The fossil bones show how the club was built, even when its exact use is uncertain.