Styracosaurus

Where did Styracosaurus wear its biggest horn?

Did you know? Look above the nose for one long horn. Then look behind the head for the bony frill with its ring of large spikes. This arrangement gives Styracosaurus a very different silhouette from Triceratops, which had two long horns above its eyes.