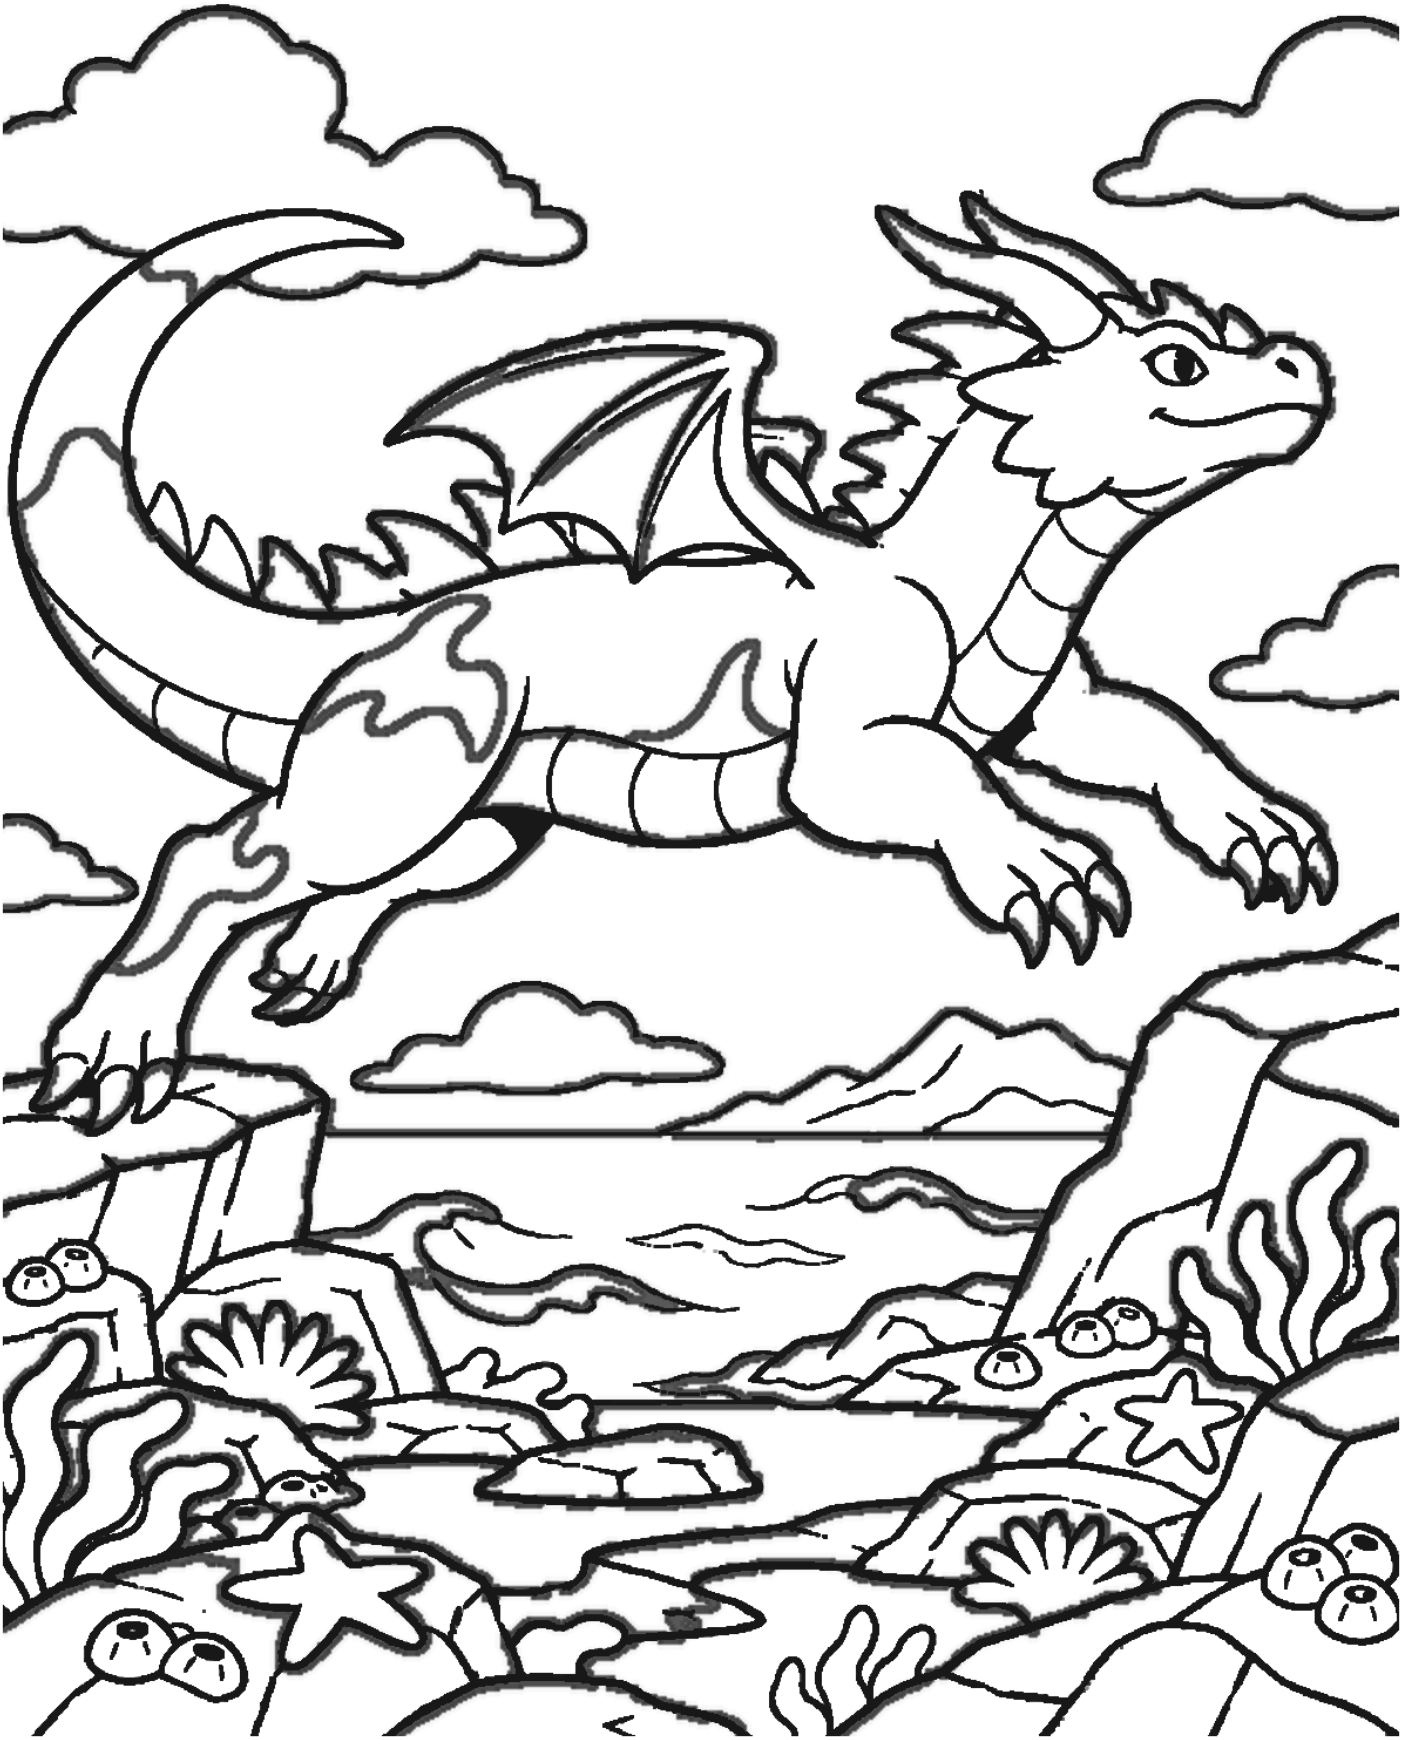
Island Drake

What lives in a pool left behind by the tide?



Did you know? When seawater retreats, some can stay in rock hollows. Tide pools can shelter crabs, snails and sea anemones until the tide returns. Look for the little pools between the rocks below this jumping drake.