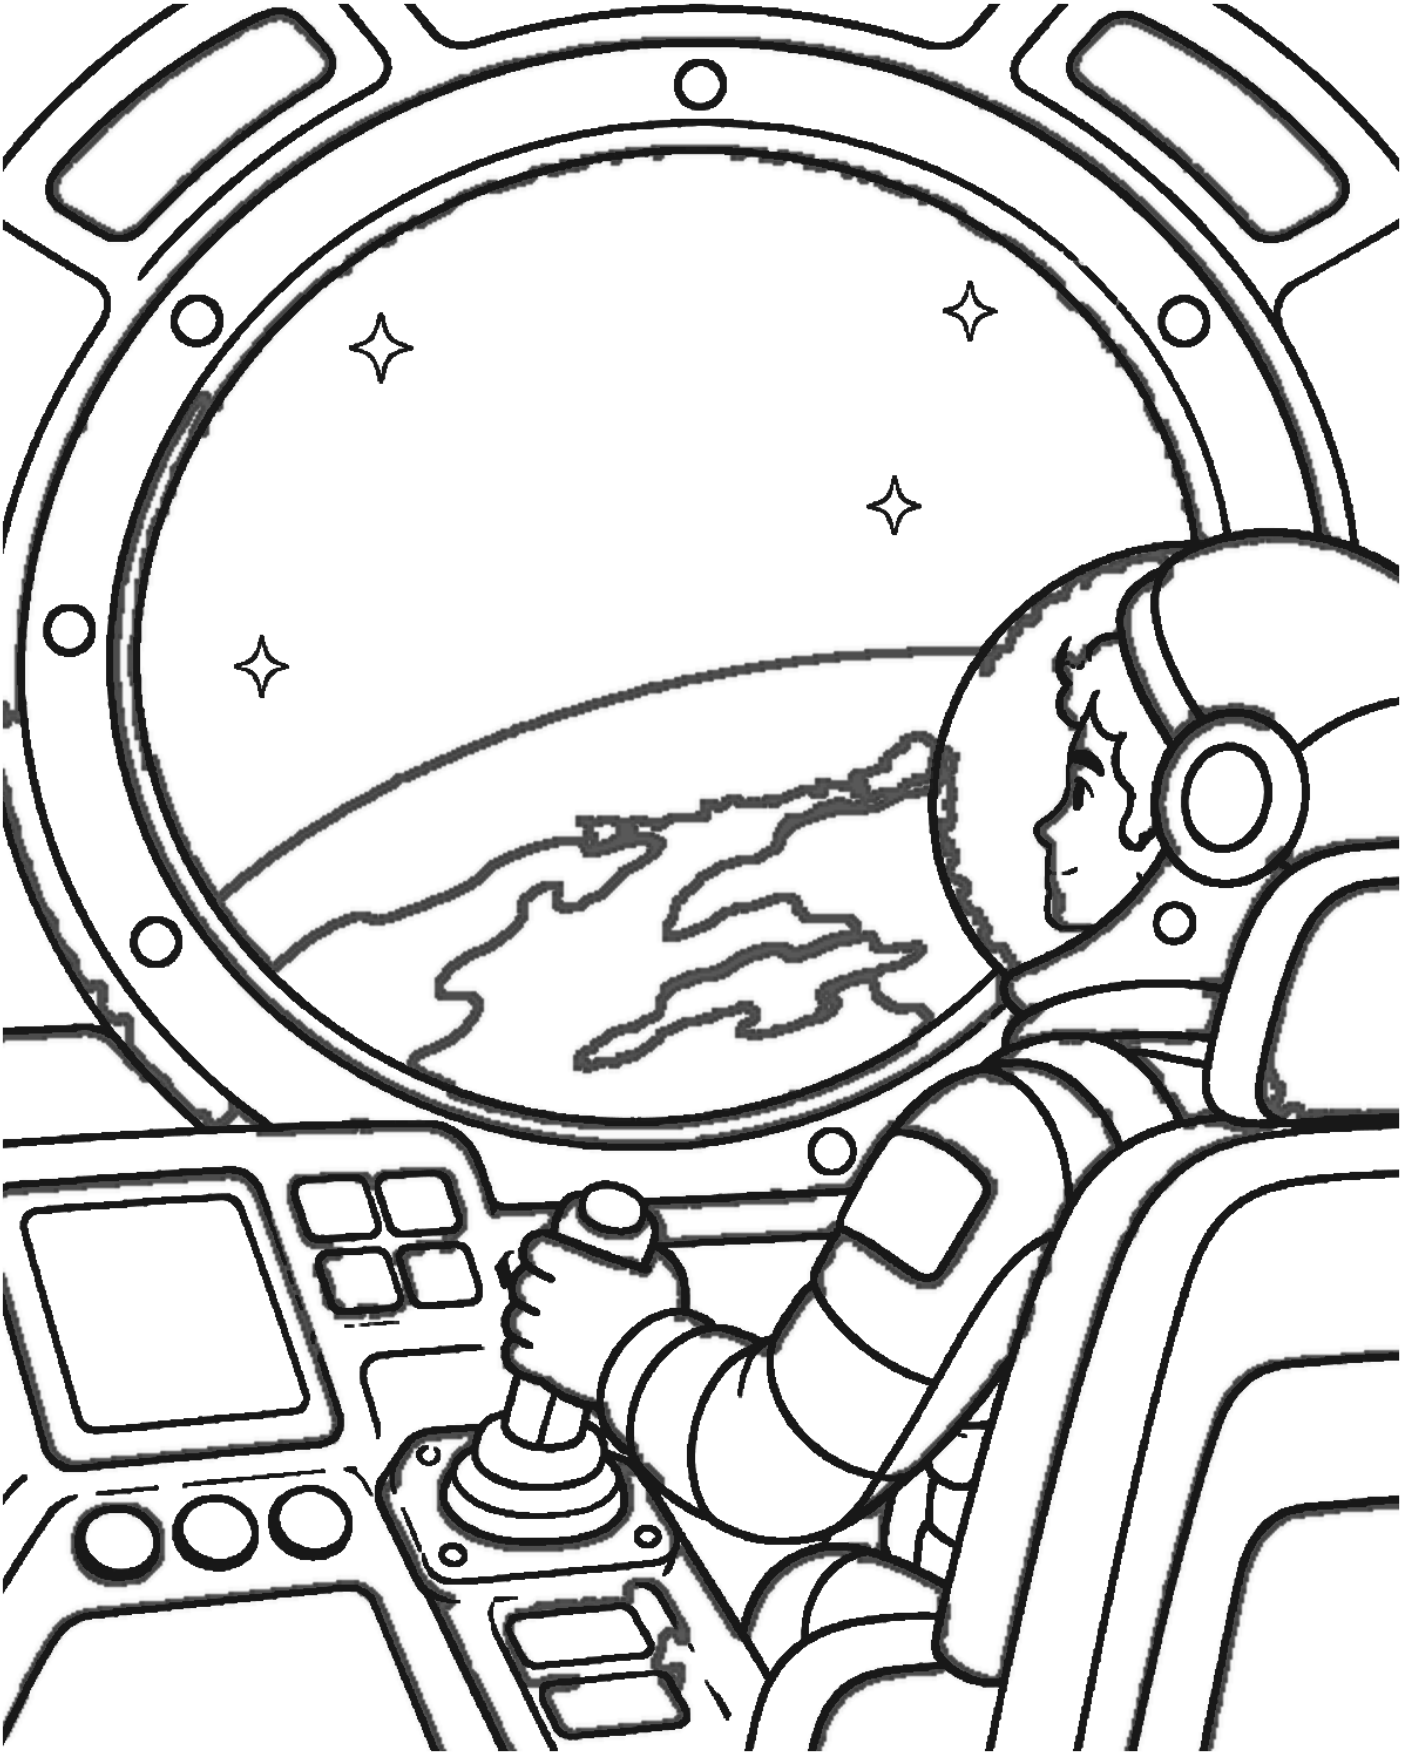
Cockpit Window

Why does a spacecraft have windows as well as screens?



Did you know? Astronauts can look through the windows to see landmarks and nearby spacecraft. Inside NASA’s Orion capsule, three screens show information from the spacecraft’s computers. The crew can use that information and their controls to guide the capsule.